"Handy Appliance"

4 H club members of John McLean's Patrolia club saw what the staff at Maude's Restaurant, Appomattox, describe as a "handy appliance" during their tour of the restaurant last week.

The appliance is a new type of "steamer" which can thaw frozen vegetables, keep bread warm and moist, and aid in a "dozen ways" in food preparation.

The 4 H'rs tour of Maude's ended with hot chocolate and doughnuts for all members, and a detailed description of restaurant practices by Miss Rosa Hudson, manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Robinson left today for Florida where they will spend a week's vacation. They will be accompanied by Steve Barron, of Arlington.

The gift may be 'a lost Something in the midst of a blank Nothing'.

Of course, this is not the true spirit of Christmas. In all of history there is no story equal to Christmas story with its subsequent chapters. It is the story of God's greatest gift to man — "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son". When any man grasps this truth and comes to understand its meaning for his own life, he can only henceforth be a generous giver. Realizing now God's great love to him, and understanding how God great love for his fellow man, he finds it easy in his heart to share with those who are in need. There is no thought of return. Freely he has received, freely he gives. The spirit of Christ, he helps to keep it alive in God's world.

Christmas is together - ness. At Christmas time families get together; friends find a joy in being with one another. Individuals travel hundreds of miles to be at home for Christmas. Since childhood they have experienced unsurpassed joys at Christmas time with loved ones. Having had this experience, they seek to provide it for their own children. Bonds of love and mutual admiration bring us together with friends also. It may be only to express a 'Merry Christmas' wish; or an elaborate Christmas party celebration. But even families are sometimes divided and torn by selfishness and pride, or hurting words or actions. These may be forgotten for a Day, but only for a day. Friends may get together in celebration of the season in anything but the spirit of Christ. The spirits that are present may only release the inhibitions of man's lower nature, resulting in the crude, ugly, and even immoral behaviour which is unbecoming of a man 'made in the likeness of God'. We have a return to paganism; we have a 'blank Nothing around a lost Something'. However, in Christ the Christmas Joy of togetherness can be real and meaningful. Families can meet together in a bond of love that can never be severed, not even by death. Those who have experienced the wonderful forgiveness of all their wrongs and sins in Christ have no reason to hold grudges against those who have done them far less wrong. They have an Ally to help them find a way for the healing of all divisions. There is no reason for selfishness and pride, but only a self -giving love as they have experienced in Christ. There is the added knowledge that they are bound up in a love that reaches beyond the few members of their family which is momentarily assembled together; a love that comes from God and reaches out to His great family in all the earth. The person in Christ will enjoy all get - together with friends. He will enjoy immensely the gay parties of fun and recreation when held in the elevated spirit of the Christ, wherein the desire is to build up and not to tear down. One of the happiest experiences the Christian will have during the Christmas season will be the assembling togethr with other worshipers of the Christ Child and singing the beautiful and immortal Christmas carols, and hearing again the story of the 'new born King.' For the Christian knows this story will have meaning for him not only this Christmas, but for the next, and all through life, and on into eternity. He knows that he has the found Something in the midst of a living Everything.

"For all things are yours . . . whether the world or life or death or the present or the future, all are yours, and you are Christ's, and Christ is God's." 1 Corinthians 3:21-23.

Our sincere thanks and much holiday cheer to all our friends and patrons.

4-H Talk

"There's something about 4 wheels that is tremendously attractive, he said. "But it is a tragic thing for a man to trade off his future for a jalopy." He termed such a decision to drop out of school in order to own a car: a "poor trade."

Health

Poor health will always be a factor in "drop outs", he said, but the matter of staying on in school is being well taken care of by the various school systems, he added.

Nobody Interested

When nobody in the immediate family is interested in a young person's higher education, he said, it becomes more difficult to finish.

He described the 4 H banquet parents for being a "great arm attached to schooling to give students creative outlets."

He described the 4 H banquet as a "demonstration of bed rock freedom." "Freedom means nothing," he said, "until everybody in the community is concerned with the rest of the community". He added that he would not want the significance of such an occasion as the 4 H Awards banquet to go by without stressing the fact that only a "free people" can plan and execute such an occasion.

He also said of the sponsor and host for the occasion, Farmer's Bank, . . . "This forward looking bank should be congratulated." Approximately 120 guests were on hand for the annual dinner and award ceremony.

taurant is a memorable experience. The top eating places in America are pretty well ranked, and it has been our privilege to have been guests at a number of top - ranked gourmet's gathering places. But, what remined me of this, was that an Appomattox friend stopped to tell me of his pleasant experience in having a meal at one of the better eating places in Virginia. And, he found the prices most reasonable, too. I recalled having been a guest at this same place some ten years ago. It is a credit to any community to have a restaurant so good that the people who chance to stop by, will go back home and "rave" to their friends about what a wonderful meal they had!

Given Certificate

Two students and a teacher were given a special certificate because of their attendance at the SCA Workshop at Radford College this summer. Miss Julia Asher, Nancy Jo Kidd, and Susan O'Brien accepted the certificate at an SCA assembly Mon., Dec. 17, at Appomattox High School.

3 Local Groups See Safety Film

Appomattox Jayeees, the Life Saving Crew and First Aid Class in Appomattox, and all students of the Appomattox High School were shown a motion picture on the highway safety during three different showings on Monday, Dec. 17.

Trooper R. G. Netherland of the 3rd District, Va. State Police speaking to the Appomattox High School gave current statistics of 917 fatalities in the U. S. as compared with last year's total (as of this date) of 899.

He said, "Even though airplane accidents are tragic and make big headlines, highway accidents are even worse."

"Take time to think," he admonished the young drivers. He said that two cars meeting head on — each going 50 miles an hour — is equal to one car going 100 miles per hour, crashing into a brick wall.

"The car you drive is usually not your own," he remined the young drivers. "Be careful with the car and with your own life."

He added that 'driving a car on the highway is the most hazardous job a State Policeman is asked to perform."

The motion picture shown was prepared by the Ohio State Highway Patrol, and shows on the spot photomaphs of the injuries and suffering caused by highway crashes.
